THE POSITION.

times" in China shall record the doings of the three years 1867-68-69 he will be considerably puzzled at the kaleidescope-like character of the records, even if enabled in the light of accomplished events to trace the steady progress ofsome one particular course of policy, Writing at the time we confess to the puzzle without being able to more than guess the probable results. The tangled skip of China politics has so many ends that it is difficult to know which to take as the leading indication of forthcoming events. Starting from Peking we see a. quasi-liberal native cabinet under the influence of an astute Irishman, backed by a British Minister who was supposed to have placed himself entirely under his influence, sending out an ex-American Minister as its Representative to the countries of the West. Great are the rejoicings in the United States at the choice thus made. Speeches overflowing with bunkum and intentional or unintentional misstatements mark the advent of the cosmopolitan Envoy in the land of his birth. Meantime the published official documents of the Chinese Government place the position of the Envoy below that of his so-called subordinates. It is stated on the best authority that the Court of Paris will be closed to the Mission. The English papers write in cautious but condemnatory terms of its objects. Yet another mail or two and news comes that the Envoy has left for Great Britain. Scarcely has he left the Pacific States than a violent and rowdy persecution against the Chinese immigrants is inaugurated, while more recently a bill introduced into Congress expressly denies to the Chinese those rights of naturalization about which so much fuss! had been made as to "reciprocity" on the part of China. Scarcely has the mission, reached England than a series of outrages in China cull for the prompt interference of British force; these outrages as it turns out being tacitly connived at, if not instigated, by the Chinese Government. The English press changes it tone and Mr Burlingame's mission is exalted to the skies. Lord Clarendon makes promises which threaten, if fulfilled, to entirely overthrow our policy in China. Yet another change and a "Reservation Clause" places the question on its old footing. Paris meanwhile receives, and its authorities delight to honor, the Envoy and his attendants. The latest see-saw is completed by the news just to hand that for an insult offered to the French Charge d'Affaires by the Cabinet so exceedingly desirous of entering the "comity of civilized nations," all the foreign Ministers had struck their flags until ample apology be conceded. We have intentionally left out collateral events in this brief sketch but we have said enough to set any reasonable man thinking and wondering. We must not however omit to mention that Sir Rutherford Alcock has completely turned his back upon his former colleague Mr Burlingame, and has even of late manifested a spirit of progress and a just appreciation of existing facts which rather recall the days of his consul-ship at Shanghai than those of his hitherto singularly unprogressive residence at Peking. This but adds another difficulty to the problem to be solved-What will be the future course of foreigners to wards China and of China towards for eigners ? Will the Chinese Government ratify all Mr Burlingame's high-sounding phrases about "shining crosses" and "cordial welcomes?;" or will its ministers flatly repudiate every assertion such as those he has made? Will the policy of force be revived on our part, or shall we attempt to make the British Lion lie down with the particularly skittish Chinese lamb? Will mission stations be come Cockatrice-nests à la millennium, or but too really nests of noxious vermin . 80.100 requiring Snider, Rifles and armed brid . 30.015 gades to stamp them out? We hold

The Englishman says:

"Considerable excitement occurred in Court and in town vesterday, on its being known that Mr W. Tayler, late Commissioner of Patna, had been suddenly arrested on an order from the Chief Justice charging him with contempt of Court in having written certain letters to this paper referring to a judgment delivered by Baboo Dwarkanauth Mitter. The first of these etters appeared on Feb. 4, and the last yesterday morning. Sir Barnes Peacock, we understood, held a Court at 8 A. Une of the latter's outriders struck a blow, whether at Rochefort or one of his suite does not seem clear. It is said M. Rochefort has hauled down his flag pending an apolgy; and that the other Legations will probably make common cause.

On the night of the 21st inst., a large fire broke out in the northern suburb of Chinking. Fanned by the strong S. E. breeze, it spread rapidly, licking up the flimsy buildings in a most alarming manner : and in less than three hours, some 100 houses and "shanties" were level with the ground. With no effective fire-engine, the flames took their own course, and they were only stopped from reaching the best part of the town, by the creek which leads to the Grand Canal, Unfortunate Chinkiang! BURMAH.

From Mandalay we licar the usual story. There has been a fresh discovery of intrigues in the Palace. This time it would seem that the women connected with the the Palace had combined to bring ruin on the late Eingshemin's family. One of his sons was designated by the fair conspirators, as the true successor to the present King, and this, of course, led to a great turmoil. The King is said to have pardoued the ladies implicated after they had been a short time in arrest.

The most contradictory accounts still prevail as to the condition of things in Western Yunan. It is, however, admitted that the disturbers of the peace in the neighbourhood of Momein are nothing more formidable than Chinese robbers. No caravan had arrived at Mandalay from the Panthay land, and so long as the king maintains his present views on the opening up of trade with Ohina by the merchants of Rangoon, it is hopeless to expect trade to

THE "TREATY PORTS OF CHINA L & JAPAN," AND "NOTES AND QUERIES ON UHINA AND JAPAN." EXTRAUTS FROM REVIEWS

From the "Strasts Times," July 27, 1868, Some time ago we had occasion to remark pon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication; which deserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the knowledge of our readers. We allude to Notes and Queries on China and Japan, published China Mail newspaper. apparently successful vigour, in this The publication is altogether a very interesting one, and wishing it every success, we commend it to the attention and support (From the "Friend of India," June 4, 1868.) We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the numbers for the current year of "Notes and Queries," a most deserving Anglo-Chinese monthly, edited by My N B. Dennys, whose "Treaty Ports of China and Japan" are so well known. From the names attached to the " Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the best Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not confined to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and generally to all who are interested in oriental antiquities. It deserves to be better known in India.
